

We've found some pretty cool stuff in here so I feel compelled to contribute also.

We've been using this site to get new sites indexed in Google/Yahoo/Bing within hours. It's like twitter, but with the do-follow enabled for great SEO.

A few tips....

1. You can have a website link in your profile
2. When you make a micro post drop the link you are trying to get indexed > Hello Google!!
3. Find a clever way to tag your post with a popular tag or group. For instance. "I just did my first #wordpress blog/forum/free classified install! www.yourdomain.com"

Doing this will make your post appear on the wordpress tag page which is a PR5

Go ahead and mess with it, there are tons of tags and groups. Great little resource, but like most things, be careful not to abuse it or else they will probably switch over to no-follow.
